In the heart of the Apulian region (Salento), surrounded by ancient olive trees, vineyards and the maquis, you will discover Specchia, a beautiful little town whose history, scents, flavours and hospitality made it so famous as to be listed on the "Italy's most beautiful villages" guide.

De Donno Residence is an ancient luxury house, just restored, in the historical centre of Specchia.

The structure consists of two flats, one of the two has an intermediate floor and of a large one-roomed flat (this one, too, has an intermediate floor). Both flats are air-conditioned and each of them can sleep up to four people. An inner private car parking is also available for the guests.

Moreover guests can enjoy full relax in the 2000-sm large private garden, where they can also pick delicious seasonal fresh fruit.

Thanks to its geographical location it is possible to get in a few minutes to both the Ionian Sea, which is mostly sandy, and the Adriatic, which is rocky. Seaside is just few kilometres far from the residence and you can get to it by bicycle. Free bicycles are at guests' disposal.

IPA members are granted a round-the-year 10% discount on the price list you will find on the web site.

IPA member Gianpiero DE DONNO, however, is also interested in mutual flat exchange.
